RECENT DEATHS.

McKellogg

Margaret McKellogg died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. C. Gamble in Cabot, Thursday, Dec. 19th, after an illness of two years, although she was confined to her bed only a few weeks. Mrs. McKellogg was born in Armoyn, Ireland, County of Antrim in 1817 and came to this country about 30 years ago. Her husband, James McKellogg, died in West Danville, September 1907. She is survived by three daughters, Mrs. N. McCambridge of Armoyn County of Antrim, Ireland, Mrs. E. Gamble of Cabot and Mrs. G. L. Martin of Williamstown and several grandchildren. The funeral will be held Monday morning from St. Aloysius church, Rev. T. J. Leonard officiating and the interment was in Mt. Calvary cemetery.

Barney

After an illness of five weeks, caused by overwork and exposure, Carroll Pratt Barney, died on Dec. 19 in the Sparks Memorial hospital at Fort Smith, Arkansas, at the early age of 31. When Carroll was 12 years of age his father died and from that time on he gave himself to the help of his family and later to that of an invalid mother. For this reason he had little help from schools but supplemented his lack by evening studies in Boston and by correspondence courses. Under the efficient direction of the late Mr. Braw and Mr. Williams he became assistant roadmaster of the White Mountain division of the Boston and Maine railroad, continuing that service and residing in St. Johnsbury and Woodville until 1909 when he went west. Many will remember Ruth Standish Wilbur, who became his wife on the 14th of May, 1904 and who died after a short married life of four years leaving a lovely child, the joy of her grandmother, Mrs. Arthur Wilder, and of much interest to other friends. The interment of our friend will occur today at Piqua, Ohio, where he will rest beside his mother to whom he was a faithful son.

Shastany

William Joseph Shastany, son of Henry J. and Eliza J. Shastany, died at the St. Johnsbury hospital Sunday morning after a nine weeks' illness of Bright's disease. The funeral was held at St. Aloysius church at nine o'clock Tuesday morning, December 24. William J. Shastany was born in Laconia, N. H., June 30, 1881, and lived there until the age of 19, when he enlisted in the Spanish war. He served in the Philippines for three years, receiving an honorable discharge when his time was over. Returning from the Philippines he came back to his home in St. Johnsbury, where his parents moved during his absence. He was married to Ernestine Demas on August 25, 1908. His wife and one child, Alfred survive, also his mother and father, two grandmothers, Mrs. Harriet Shastany of this place and Mrs. Mary Fruland of Laconia, N. H., three brothers, Charles of Laconia, N. H., Otis of Springfield, Mass., and Edward of this place, and seven sisters, Mrs. E. J. Patterson of East Tilton, N. H., Mrs. A. H. Adams of Laconia, N. H., Mrs. P. J. Burke of North Cambridge, Mass., Mrs. I. N. Wilkie of St. Johnsbury, Mass., Mrs. A. F. Hodges of Springfield, Mass., and Edward and Rena of this place. Mr. Shastany was an employe at the scale shops for a number of years.

Ingram

The remains of Miss Isabella M. Ingram who died at Abington, Mass., Dec. 19, were brought here for burial and the funeral was held Saturday at the home of her brother, Walter J. Ingram. Rev. Paul Dwight Moody officiated and the interment was here. Miss Ingram was born in Norton, Mass., May 20, 1861 the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Ingram, now deceased, but for many years well known residents. The family moved here when she was a very small child and this was her home until about 15 years ago when she moved to Massachusetts. She had been in failing health for five years and was so ill ten days ago that her brother was sent for. She leaves one brother besides Walter J. Ingram, William of Lawrence, Mass.

U. V. M. MUSICAL CLUBS

Will Give Concert Here Tuesday Dec. 31—Have Fine Program

The University of Vermont Musical clubs will leave Burlington, Monday, December 30, to give concerts in eastern and northern parts of the state. The itinerary includes entertainments at Morrisville Monday night, St. Johnsbury Tuesday night, Barton Wednesday, Newport Thursday, Richford Friday and the wind-up engagement at St. Albans Saturday evening the 4th of January.

The 30 men of the University, who make up the musical organizations are offering many new and novel "stunts" in the concert line this year. They showed their cards at the home concert in Burlington last week to the delight of their hearers. The evening's program was divided into two parts somewhat after the style of the traveling minstrel. The first part includes instrumental and glee club numbers, readings at 1 bass and the tenor duets and solos. The second part is an innovation depicting a scene in "The dormitory" with true college life as it is and not as it is supposed to be, with many an informal hum and melody.

The glee men are featuring a "college medley" and a "rag medley" and Manager Smith gives a prominent place on the program to the brand new brass quartette. Robinson, a member of the freshman class and a leader of the instrumental department, recently wrote a popular new Vermont song in march time which the glee club uses. The management is still negotiating for a new Vermont town and city high school or club wishing to entertain the clubs should communicate with W. P. Smith, Burlington.
